1 INTRODUCTION

Citizenship is the basic criterion for determining the identity of a person. In order to raise the harmoniously developed generation to a higher level of citizenship, we have to implement a wide range of practical activities and educational work. At the same time, we need to learn more about the history, culture, traditions, and customs of our Homeland and preserve unique historical monuments. Such charitable deeds give a positive effect on the education of our children as a conscientious, honest just, patriotic. Of course, the principles of the formation of a competent person play an important role. The first of these principles is national self-consciousness, which is directly the basis of this idea. One of the criteria for forming civilian education is national consciousness. Studying the knowledge and experience of our generations in the formation of the national consciousness is of great importance.

The criterion of values in the formation of civic education plays an important role. Values are a set of people in society who have a reputation, respect, influence, relationships, circumstances, material and civic values. One of the principles of forming civilian education is to be fair. Justice is a criterion for human activity. Now the ideas of justice and truth, freedom and independence, reflecting the confidence and conviction of our people, are deeply rooted in our lifestyle. That is why our country is doing its utmost to bring up the younger generation, and the idea of this healthy generation reflects the centuries - old aspirations of our nation. Therefore, bringing up a generation of intelligent, spiritually minded, healthy, free and critical thinkers, who at the same time feels responsible for social responsibility, is a virtuous profession, a generation of civilian Generation, and its purpose.

2.1. Quotation

"Nowadays, in the face of geopolitical, economic and social, information and communications in the world, in the face of a sharp controversy of various ideologies, it is clear that we all have an opposite opinion, 'The fight against illiteracy is more important than ever.'

Therefore, to educate the younger generation in the spirit of love for the country, in the spirit of loyalty to our rich history and the sacred religion of our ancestors, first of all, it is necessary to strengthen the ideological immunity in their hearts and minds. It is up to the young people to become a national self, as well as people who deeply understand the world and are stepping on the course of time. Education is also an important tool in shaping civilian education.

3 EDUCATION PROCESS

Ethical education is a process of inculcating the law of morality in the minds of young people, which develops in their minds. Ethical education serves to demonstrate the cultural and civic priorities and activities of people.

Aesthetic education is to teach students to perceive and understand the true beauty of reality, art, nature, social and labor relations, the beauty of life. This goal is to educate students in their ability to grow artistic taste, to instill in them the beauty and bring beauty to life.

Legal education - guides the choice of a person's role, behavior, and activity in society. Like all nations, Uzbeks have a long history of legal culture.

1. Learning students' work and documents related to legal education.
2. Development of measures to prevent crime among juveniles.
3. Strengthening the legal orientation of educational and educational activities with the aim of forming a proper understanding of their rights and responsibilities.
4. Introduce readers with the news that is broadcasting in the media, and formulate their opinion correctly.
5. Explaining the meaning of the state symbols and the essence of the content of the Action Strategy.

4 THE PROCESS OF GLOBALIZATION

The civic morality potential of a person, as well as other social characteristics of the person, grows and develops in dialectical harmony, depending on the circumstances in the society in which he lives, depending on the education he receives, and on his own. Citizen's Competent Person seeks to live a meaningful life throughout his life, making a worthwhile contribution to the development of society. In particular, when the task is of critical social significance, these people rely on the civilian factor when solving the principal issues. Person and society, as a particular regulator of social consciousness of every citizen, can lead to the development of society.

This process is closely related to the evolution of the world of evolution, the technological processes that affect it, and the globalization of socio-economic, political, civic-ideological processes. "Today," said the first President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, I.A. Karimov, time has changed sharply, "it is necessary to live and work permanently, first of all, intellect and intellect." Intellect, power, power of knowledge of a particular person, understanding the essence of the inter-civilization in the process of globalization.

Person's personality and actions influence other people, society. Whether it's positive or not, it's a great deal of criticism. Implementing a person's role as a positive participant of the society is primarily reflected in the shaping of his civic education. After all, what we think, what we think, what decisions we make and what qualities it will bring, there will be a change in social life.

Therefore, the formation of a civilized person and generation in our country on the basis of these criteria is becoming more vital ever more important than ever. This task, which has become a priority of the state policy, ultimately leads to a free and prosperous Homeland, a free and prosperous life, a peaceful and sustainable development, and, of course, the provision of viable, civilized individuals.

For this purpose, citizenship education should be based on universal systems, as well as on the basis of periodic systems based on the changing demands of the social environment.

Each criterion adjusts the dimensions of individual and society relations. Certain criteria for education and upbringing will be decided. There must be such a level of intellectual potential, moral qualities, spiritual states and interests that serve to ensure the development of human civilization, society and the state. This should be done in such a way that a person can master these qualities quickly and efficiently.

5 CONCLUSION

Here is how to summarize the above points:

- wise scholars who have lived in the past have to study the priceless ideas of the person on the issue of civic competence and apply them to the educational process;

- The criterion of civic education for the individual is a criterion for education. It is necessary to timely understand these changing requirements and to improve the tools and methods that will be implemented in line with modern requirements;

- Evaluating the significance of national civic and spiritual heritage from the context of the periodicity of the person's civic competitiveness, and improving them according to changing criteria;

- High intellect - high morality - a healthy spirit. The criterion of education and training should be the same.

Without a doubt, the road to civilization is based on these systems, which serves as a major basis for a spiritually mature and comprehensively advanced generation.

Based on the above points, we give the following suggestions to teachers and coaches.

- Providing spiritual, educational and sport events for the understanding of youth in the minds of the youth;

- taking into account the peculiarities of the motives of educators during the educational process and educational process in the family, the school, the school, the vocational colleges, the academic lyceums and the higher education institutions;

- Creating a creative environment that creates necessary and favorable conditions for youth upbringing;
